

Cities around Metro Phoenix and their operations during virus chaos

The Rose Law Firm Reporter

As Covid-19 becomes a reality in Arizona, cities and municipalities have all responded in various ways to the virus. Public meetings, developmental and other city services are all effected by rapidly changing rules and policies that can possibly affect us business for the unknown future. Every city and county agency have taken a different approach to the virus. In some cities it is business as usual for the time being, others have closed their doors to the public only working though email and tele-conferencing.

Below is the current list of closures for city services, please check back daily for an updated list:
